

Employee Benefits & Executive Compensation

The Williams Mullen Employee Benefits & Executive Compensation Practice has the experience and capacity to help public and private employers navigate the complex challenges of managing employee benefits. Every day we work closely with clients on issues involving all areas of employee benefits law, such as ESOPs, 401(k) plans, pension plans, health plans, disability plans, cafeteria plans, nonqualified deferred compensation, stock-based compensation, severance arrangements, and executive compensation. Our team also helps employers create executive compensation arrangements that complement qualified plan benefits for key employees. In addition to our consulting services, our attorneys are prepared to represent our clients if ERISA litigation or income tax controversies arise.

We are also driven to keep our clients aware of and in compliance with changes in the law. Committed to a proactive approach to client service, we provide client alerts, legislation summaries and case summaries to keep clients informed of significant trends in the law. Creative, efficient and responsive problem-solving characterizes our practice.
