

Insurance Coverage Litigation

SERVICE

Industry

In an increasingly litigious society, the importance of insurance in protecting businesses and individuals from potential liability is widely recognized. Simply put, appropriate insurance is a “must have” for businesses, property owners and affluent individuals in today’s environment. Not only is the number of insurance claims on the rise, but the dollar value of those claims continues to climb. There is an increasing amount at stake, therefore, when disputes arise between insurance companies and the parties they insure.

Solving Questions of Insurance Coverage

No matter how hard insurers try to draft clear and concise policies, situations always develop which do not fall neatly into the categories of “Covered Losses” or “Exclusions.” Changing laws, regulations, and contradictory court opinions only add to the confusion, despite insurance companies’ best efforts to adapt to changes through new policy language. Questions about the existence of coverage and whether an insurer should bear responsibility for a given loss often lead to litigation. And in today’s environment, the answers to these questions are of significant value.

A Team of Experienced Insurance Coverage Attorneys

When disputes arise, Williams Mullen’s Insurance Coverage Team can tackle the complex legal issues presented by insurance coverage claims and help you navigate the unique judicial process for such claims. Our attorneys have experience handling insurance disputes involving policies for personal, commercial, and/or excess/surplus liability lines of coverage. We’ve represented clients in disputes over corporate policies covering directors and officers, professional policies involving errors and omissions coverage, employment policies guarding against discrimination and other employment claims and claims for life and/or disability benefits, just to name a few.

The Experience to Guide Clients Through Insurance Disputes

We routinely advise clients concerning potential risks and coverages afforded by given policies. If a loss does happen, we have the experience and skills necessary to determine whether coverage should be provided by an insurer. If the matter proceeds to litigation, our insurance coverage attorneys can help you in all phases of the dispute process. We have years of experience researching policies, analyzing current case law and presenting arguments in civil trials, arbitrations and other adversarial proceedings.

Whether it’s a claim for breach of contract, declaratory judgment, allegations of bad faith by an insurer, insurance fraud or an action between insurers regarding the priority of coverage between various applicable policies, Williams Mullen has the skills and the resources to provide the legal assistance our clients need.
