

Senior Housing Transactions

Members of our nationally known Senior Housing Transactions Team develop innovative and creative transactional structures and solutions that help to enable the successful conclusion of deals. Our attorneys have a significant depth of experience in the acquisition and sale of portfolios of senior health care properties and have a well-established track record in assisting a variety of clients through the entire transaction cycle of acquisition, restructuring, development, seasoning and disposition.

In the last eight years alone, we have advised on transactions with an aggregate value of more than $10 billion that involved assets ranging from a handful of facilities to ?go private,? billion dollar-plus transactions with hundreds of facilities. In connection with those transactions, we have represented a wide range of participants from sole proprietors to private equity funds, regionally or nationally focused funds, foreign investors, REITs and publicly traded companies.

The transactions in which we participate rarely begin and end as a simple acquisition of the assets the client has identified. Each deal is multifaceted and involves negotiating a variety of documents with multiple participants, including active and passive investors; institutional and government sponsored lenders; operators; developers; regulators; and providers of third-party reports, all of whom have differing interests and agendas. We help to solve the problems of not only our clients but also the myriad transactional counterparts involved in a typical deal.

KEY BENEFITS OF WORKING WITH US

National capabilities
Regardless of the location of the assets in your transaction, we can assist you. Our experience is national in scope. We regularly coordinate deals across several states, working with local counsel and regulators to ensure compliance in each of those locations.
Business acumen and well-established industry relationships
Our many years of participation in the industry have enabled us to develop relationships with lenders, operators and other service providers that can be leveraged for the benefit of our clients.
Broad perspective and proactive approach
We call upon our real estate, tax, commercial leasing, environmental, creditors? rights and bankruptcy, litigation, regulatory, corporate, and securities lawyers, as needed, to address all aspects of your transaction. In each of those disciplines, we have practitioners who have an advanced understanding of the industry and the specific issues that are central to a deal. We are adept in identifying and resolving issues at all stages of a transaction, to help you avoid costly delays, unnecessary risk and impediments to completion.

Comprehensive services

In addition to completing the core transaction, we negotiate and help resolve issues with tenants/operators, lenders, equity participants and regulatory authorities.

Continued assistance

Unlike many firms, the completion of the transaction does not mark the end of assistance from the Williams Mullen deal team. The continued involvement of members of the original deal team, and the historical and institutional knowledge they share with the client's management team, have proven valuable to clients that subsequently pursue dispositions, releases of property, refinancing, restructuring and exit transactions.

Financing experience

Over the last decade, we have participated in transactions using all types of financing, from single commercial loans to more sophisticated structures involving multiple lenders with differing rights, such as senior and mezzanine loans, A/B structures and preferred equity. In addition, we have assisted with financing secured after the acquisition to enable expansion or remediation of facilities, or construction of additional buildings. Most recently, many acquirers have used bridge to agency finance to take advantage of premium rates available from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA)/U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD); the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"); and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. ("Freddie Mac").
