Williams Mullen Attorney Camden Webb Named 2008 Triangle Mover & Shaker by Business Leader Magazine

Williams Mullen announced today that Camden Webb was recognized as one of the 2008 Triangle Mover & Shakers by Business Leader Magazine. The award honors individuals who have made an impact on both their company and the community. Winners must either be an executive or an up-and-coming leader within the company.

"It is an honor to be named a Triangle 'Mover & Shaker,' along with some of the area's most influential individuals. Williams Mullen makes a point to devote time and resources to the betterment of our community and I am proud to represent our firm among this group," said Webb.

Camden was nominated for the award by Keith Kapp, managing partner of Williams Mullen's Raleigh office.

"Since 1999, I have watched Camden grow his practice into one that is a wonderful representation of the Triangle's business clientele," said Kapp. "Camden is very deserving of this recognition and has gone above and beyond numerous times to ensure the firm's success and the success of his clients. He is an accomplished, caring professional who has made an immense impact on Williams Mullen and the Triangle."

About Camden Webb

Camden Webb focuses his practice on commercial and financial services litigation. He has appeared in the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, North Carolina's federal district and bankruptcy courts, the North Carolina Court of Appeals, the majority of North Carolina's state judicial districts, and has appeared in various other state and federal courts as associated counsel.

Prior to joining Williams Mullen, Camden served as an U.S. Army judge advocate in Korea and Fort Bragg, N.C., where he practiced consumer law and administrative law, and was a trial lawyer for two years.

Licensed to practice in North Carolina, Camden is a member of the North Carolina State Bar and the North Carolina and American bar associations, where he serves on the Commercial and Business Litigation Committee as UCC Sub-Committee co-chair, the Committee on Consumer Financial Services, and the Committee on Financial Institution Litigation. In addition, he is active in the Conference on Consumer Finance Law, the Defense Research Institute and the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys.

Camden is also active in the community, currently serving as president of the Leadership Raleigh Alumni Association and serves on the board of directors for Junior Achievement of Eastern North Carolina. He was a member of the board of directors for the Greater Raleigh Chamber of Commerce from 2006 to 2007 and served as the chairman for the Leadership Raleigh 2001-02 program, and is a member of the Crabtree Rotary Club.

A graduate of the University of Richmond, Camden earned his bachelor of arts degree, magna cum laude, and his juris doctor degree, with honors, from the University of North Carolina. More information about Camden can be found at <http://www.williamsmullen.com/crwebb/>
