Matt Keelen, Cameron Prell and numerous other Williams Mullen attorneys and clients recently visited with Senator Mike Johanns, the former Governor of Nebraska and Secretary of Agriculture, in the firm's DC office. Sen. Johanns spoke with attendees on a variety of issues including the Employee Free Choice Act, health care reform, and business implications from the recent stimulus package, the federal budget plan, and introduced legislation to combat climate change. Williams Mullen/Keelen Group is in the process of arranging similar events to continue exposing our firm and its clients to the group's contacts and key players on Capitol Hill.
