Are you developing a solar or wind project in Virginia? Want to learn more about the Permit By Rule process for small renewable energy projects?

Join us Wednesday, August 1, at 11:00 am (EST) for an informative discussion of the DEQ's Permit By Rule (PBR) Process. The DEQ has developed PBR regulations for the construction and operation of renewable energy projects, including solar and wind projects, not exceeding 150 megawatts.

We will be joined by our special guest, Mary (Beth) E. Major, Environmental Program Manager of the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). Beth Major is responsible for managing DEQ's PBR program for small renewable energy projects.

What you will learn:

- > How to best address the PBR regulations
- > What to anticipate in the PBR process
- > Recent PBR developments and activity
- > Practical tips to successfully navigate the PBR process

Speakers

- > Mary E. Major, Environmental Program Manager, Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ)

> Bradley J. Nowak, Partner, Williams Mullen

> Robert F. Riley, Partner, Williams Mullen
