

eDiscovery Lessons from the Mueller Report

07.24.2019

On July 24, 2019, Lauren Waller will co-present on eDiscovery lessons from the Mueller Report as part of Driven's Speaker Series in Richmond. See below for a synopsis of the event.

"The much-anticipated Report on the Investigation into Russian Interference in the 2016 Presidential Election of Special Counsel Robert S. Mueller, III, a/k/a the "Mueller Report," was released on April 18, 2019. Volume I of the Mueller Report addresses numerous evidentiary and legal ethics issues identified by the Office of Special Counsel during its investigation. This presentation examines many of these issues and how they impacted the prosecutorial and declination determinations reached by the Special Counsel on alleged crimes related to the Russian interference with the 2016 Presidential campaign. This presentation also examines the methods used by the Office of Special Counsel to locate relevant electronic evidence, the sources of electronically stored information (ESI) -- including alternative communication channels used by key players, and the legal ethics issues related to the protection and discovery of this ESI."

To register, click here.

Related People

- Lauren W. Waller – 804.420.6590 – lwaller@williamsmullen.com

Related Services

- eDiscovery and Information Governance