On Jan. 23, Pat Gottschalk presented to the Virginia Chamber as part of the announcement of the formation of the Virginians for Employee Free Choice during Chamber Day at the Capitol.

Pat spoke out against changing the Virginia Right to Work Law and was quoted as saying, “Virginia consistently ranks as a top state for business because of our pro-business climate. That pro-business climate includes laws that are hospitable to both businesses and employees, including Virginia’s Right-to-Work law. Right-to-Work is an important pillar of our economic competitiveness. Today, the Commonwealth is winning big economic development projects yielding thousands of good-paying jobs for Virginians because of Right-to-Work.”
