Nick Vretakis focuses his practice on general corporate matters including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, entity formation, contract review and negotiation and other commercial transaction, corporate governance and securities matters. He has experience counseling clients on reporting, proxy and other disclosure obligations imposed by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the blue sky laws of state securities regulators.

Prior to joining Williams Mullen, Nick was an enforcement attorney in the securities and charities division with the Office of the Georgia Secretary of State in Atlanta, GA. In that role, Nick investigated violations of various securities acts, focusing on fraudulent offers, sales and purchases of securities, cryptocurrencies, digital assets and misappropriation of investor funds.

Nick received his J.D. from the University of Georgia School of Law where he was a member of the Business Law Society. While in law school, he interned at the Division of Enforcement at the Securities and Exchange Commission and New York's Nassau County District Attorney's Office. Nick earned his bachelor's degree in Economics from the University of Virginia.
